

Four People I Would Like To Talk About

– Ivy Cheung (GW) -

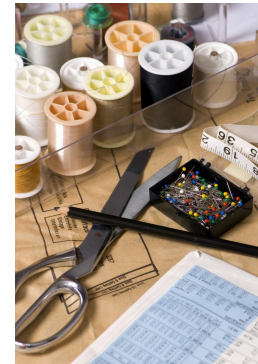

25th July 08

Firstly, I would like to talk about my mother. She is a building surveyor. She is kind and affable. When she knows that I have done something wrong, she never punishes me but will just explain things and point out my wrongs. She teaches me patiently, and hopes I will be a useful person in the future, contributing to the community. The love of a mother is so great. The time that my mother spends on me, the love and care she has shown me are simply incomparable. I will remember all the principles she has taught me forever.

I always look up to my father as a role model. He has worked hard all his life. My father always suggests and advises me to donate money to the needy in our society; like those who are hungry and poor. I will never forget his teaching.

Anna is our domestic helper and has worked for our family for six years. She cooks delicious food and cleans everything very well. She is good at knitting and sewing too! She is an Indonesian but she is going to marry a Korean next year. I have always chatted with her for the past few months, for this is going to be the last year she is working here. I will miss her when she is gone.

My primary six homeroom teacher is Miss Kwok. She always smiles at her students and likes to tell us funny jokes and stories. Sometimes she gives students little presents when they are well-behaved. She is always kind and friendly, and is ready to give students changes to improve in their homework and projects etc. She is the best teacher I have come to know.

